THE CELTIC BOSS SPEAKS OUT

' The match against Hibs this afternoon is our last home fixture of the season.

And it's a source of disappointment to me that the game will not be as significant as it could have been.

By our own standards it has been a bad season for us. For the first time since 1978 Celtic will finish outside the top two in the Premier League.

Several factors have brought this about, one of them being an unprecedented injury situation. You can't plan for that, but there are other problems which can be worked upon. It's my intention to eradicate these problems throughout the close season.

In the meantime we have a Scottish Cup Final to look forward to in two weeks time. Therein lies the significance of today's game. A win is needed to build confidence while several players need to play well and assure me they are fit to be included in the team to face Rangers.

My aim, since we qualified for the final has been to have a full squad available. That's why I've been delighted that Derek Whyte has returned safely after a lengthy injury. And Steve Fulton is fit again after breaking a bone in his hand during the Scottish Cup semi-final against Hibs.

There's no getting away from the fact that we would like to be in Rangers' position at this time. Equally, many other clubs would like to be in our position at this stage of the season.

There is plenty to play for. Let's go for this last prize and then worry about what must be done afterwards. '

KING KENNY!

KENNY DALGLISH was the youngster who always seemed destined to play for Rangers. As a boy growing up literally yards from Ibrox, he had often watched them in action and as his own football career pro-gressed they began to watch him.

No moves were made by the light blues to obtain his signature and they were soon to regret their hesitation as the persuasive rhetoric of Sean Fallon would direct him towards Parkhead. The validity of his fathers advice that he would be receiving the best kind of foot-ball tuition would be borne out time and time again.

When Dalglish arrived at Celtic Park it housed probably the best team in Scottish football history. Kenny was farmed out to Cumbernauld Utd and he scored thirty seven goals for the Junior side in less than a season having scored four times on his debut. When he returned to Celtic Park he played in an extremely successful reserve team; a side known as the 'Quality Street Kids' which many people felt would easily hold its own in the First Division.

Although Jock Stein rarely rushed his youngsters Dalglish made an early debut as a substitute against Hamilton in a league cup tie at Douglas Park in September '68. Thirteen months later the eighteen year old started his first match for the club and gave a performance that belied his youth in Celts 7-0 victory. Kenny played intermittently for Celtic in the next two seasons before making the breakthrough to the first team in 71/72.

Although Dalglish had operated from midfield in the reserves he began his first full season for Celtic as centre forward due to a six goal display against Kilmarnock while playing in a testimonial match for Frank Beattie at Rugby Park. He scored his first goal for the club in a league cup section match against Rangers at Ibrox and before the season
