Pep Talk

Iwould like to welcome all supporters to Celtic Park this afternoon for the second Old Firm game of the season.

Hopefully everyone will have had a peaceful and relaxing Christmas and hopefully now that it is past we can get down to business.

Our aim today is to continue to show the kind of form we've displayed in our last few games – if we can do that I'm confident we can get the right result.

We have to stick together today – players and supporters alike. We also have to be patient but most importantly we have to cheer the 11 players who cross that line.

We have to support each and everyone of them from the first ball to the last and take advantage of being at home.

Much has been made about this match being the last of the millennium but the significance of that will only be determined when we can collect all the points on offer.

That is our only concern – gaining three points on Rangers is three points less they will have come the end of the season.

And although we are playing the way we want to at the moment we won't be satisfied unless we can maintain that form in every game including big games against the likes of Rangers.

A derby match, as everyone knows, is a special occasion and no two are ever the same – this game really is a one-off.

And while we can't say we will do one particular thing to win the game, we are all confident that we will get the result that our supporters deserve.

Rangers have now won the last three meetings against us this year and we aim to end 1999 with a victory of our own.

The importance of winning doesn't really need to be explained to any of our supporters – we are all aware of the situation in the league at the moment.

But what may need to be explained is that all of the players in the squad and all the management team including myself are fully committed to delivering success to this club.

There is not one single player in the entire squad who isn't

We are confident we will get a result our supporters deserve desperate to run out on to that park and show he is able to play for Celtic.

We want to come back to Celtic Park in January after the winter break knowing that we are still in contention to win the league and we will certainly be if we beat Rangers today.

Enjoy the game.

Police Message

The match Commander, Chief Superintendent D Donnelly, Glasgow East division, has asked that all supporters follow the advice given to them by his officers before, during and after the match, to ensure their safe passage to and from the stadium. In particular, after the match, he asks that supporters exiting the stadium follow the guidance given by police officers and stewards which will help to ensure as safe and swift an exit from the stadium as possible. Chief Superintendent Donnelly hopes all fans enjoy the match and wishes them a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
