OUR CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

We welcome all good football supporters to Celtic Park today and extend to them the traditional New Year greetings.

The redating of this league fixture is a departure, however, from tradition and we of Celtic naturally regret it, for no club has more regard for tradition than Celtic.

But if the change of date does something to restore the atmosphere of the old days it will have been well justified. Younger followers of football possibly do not appreciate that the Celtic-Rangers game on New Year's Day was a great sporting fixture and that in the distant past it was played in a spirit of good will.

It is my fervent hope than we can begin a new era of good relationship between the followers of Celtic and Rangers.

I would like to congratulate the Celtic players, the manager and his assistants behind the scenes on their efforts this season to provide attractive football. There is no doubt that every club wants to win as many matches as possible. But the club which can keep winning and at the same time supply a brand of football that will satisfy those of us who seek entertainment as well as victory is the most successful club of all.

We read and hear on every side about falling attendances and what should be done to entice back former spectators. There is no doubt at all in my mind what has to be done first and foremost, and that is to provide skilful, attacking, exciting football and pay much less attention to keeping opponents from scoring. I believe we are succeeding in pleasing the crowd now by redoubling our efforts to score goals. The lifeblood of football, I am certain, is the scoring of goals.

Let us show our appreciation and delight most of all for the goals we score. But let us do so in the proper place, which certainly is not the field of play. Celtic supporters have responded splendidly to our appeals this season for good behaviour. I am sure they can discipline the odd one among them who disobeys the instruction not to encroach on the pitch. Anyone who does so in future, whatever his age may be, will not remain in the ground many minutes longer.

Today's match may be the key one in the league championship race. In welcoming our old and great rivals Rangers to Celtic Park we know that they will do their utmost to beat us. We shall be no less eager to win. May the game be well worth the attendance.

ROBERT KELLY.
